U.S. Equity Markets

- U.S. large cap equities (S&P 500 Index) rallied +4.4% as dovish commentary from several Federal Reserve (Fed) members supported futures market expectations for a Fed rate cut by July and possibly three rate cuts by 2020. Additionally, oversold conditions, possible short covering, and an improved outlook on U.S.-Mexico trade negotiations likely contributed to the equity strength this week. By the weekend, President Trump announced that an agreement was reached with Mexico that will avoid the implementation of tariffs as Old Man Barron's quipped: "Here's the latest market wisdom: Sell in May, come back in June"
 - Materials (+9.1%) outperformed with leadership from steel and chemical stocks

 - Healthcare (+4.3%) performed in-line with the market as mixed performance across the sector included Abbott Labs (+6.1%) and Johnson & Johnson (+5.6%)
 - Is the political rhetoric around healthcare providing another opportunity for investors to take advantage of attractive valuations?

- Monday saw a flurry of mergers and acquisitions announced, including Infineon offering to buy Cypress Semiconductor

- Multiple reports discussed how the Department of Justice (DOJ) and Federal Trade Commission (FTC) agreed to divvy up jurisdiction of four leading technology companies. The DOJ will focus on Alphabet and Apple, while the FTC will cover Amazon and Facebook, with a current investigation already underway on Facebook. Reports discussed several concerns including the rare bipartisan support for increased regulation, extended headline risk, and dampened acquisition prospects
- The valuation discrepancy between so-called value and growth stocks is near its widest levels ever, going back 33 years, on both price-to-book and price-to-earnings measures

- Interest rates for several major foreign, developed countries are significantly lower than the U.S. Given the higher debt levels, lower GDP growth, and significant political risk for Italy (131% debt to GDP, -0.1% GDP y/y growth), it’s somewhat mind boggling that an Italian 10-year bond yields only 0.6% more than an equivalent U.S. bond (105% debt to GDP, +3.2% GDP annualized growth in Q1.2019). Meanwhile, French Treasuries yield 90% less than their U.S. counterparts, while German and Japanese Treasuries remain mired in negative yield territory

2. George F. Shipp, CFA, has managed the portfolio since inception. No alterations of composites, as presented herein, have occurred due to changes in personnel or other reasons at any time.
3. Inception date of composite: December 31, 2000. Creation date: December 31, 2000. The appropriate benchmark for this composite is the Russell 1000 Value Index." The Russell 1000 Value Index measures the performance of the large-cap value segment of the U.S equity universe. It includes those Russell 1000 companies with lower price-to-book ratios and lower expected growth values. The index is reconstituted annually. 4. Performance reflects reinvested interest income and dividends and realized and unrealized capital gains and losses. All portfolios are valued monthly as of calendar month-end and utilize trade-date and accrued income accounting. Valuations and performance are reported in US dollars. Portfolio returns are calculated monthly using the Modified Dietz method. Portfolios are revalued for cash flows greater than 10%. Composite returns are calculated monthly by weighting the aggregate SMA/Wrap sponsor returns using beginning of period market values. Periodic time weighted returns are geometrically linked. Returns are not calculated net of non-reclaimable withholding taxes due to immaterial dollar amounts.
5. "Pure" gross of fees returns do not reflect the deduction of any fees including trading costs. The net of fee return reflects the actual SMA fee of the individual portfolios in each platform except for one platform where the maximum fee is deducted from the gross return. The SMA fee includes all charges for trading costs, portfolio management, custody and other administrative fees. The actual fee may vary by size and type of portfolio.
6. The annual composite dispersion presented is measured by an asset-weighted standard deviation calculation method of all portfolios in the composite for the entire year. The dispersion is not meaningful because less than six portfolios are in the composite. The three year annualized standard deviation measures the variability of the composite and benchmark returns over the preceding 36 month period. It is not required to be presented for annual periods prior to 2011 or when a full three years of composite performance is not yet available.
7. The performance presented represents past performance and is no guarantee of future results. Stock market conditions vary from year to year and can result in a decline in market value due to material market or economic conditions.

2. George F. Shipp, CFA, has managed the portfolio since inception. No alterations of composites, as presented herein, have occurred due to changes in personnel or other reasons at any time.
3. Inception date of composite: December 31, 2000. Creation date: December 31, 2000. The appropriate index is the Russell 3000 Index which measures the performance of the largest 3,000 US companies, representing approximately 98% of the investable US market. It represents the universe of stocks from which all-cap managers typically select. The index is reconstituted annually. Total return includes price appreciation/depreciation and income as a percent of the original investment. A complete list of all of SCM's composites and their descriptions is available upon request. Policies for valuing portfolios, calculating performance and preparing compliant presentations are available upon request.
4. Performance reflects reinvested interest income and dividends and realized and unrealized capital gains and losses. All portfolios are valued monthly as of calendar month-end and utilize trade-date and accrued income accounting. Valuations and performance are reported in US dollars. Portfolio returns are calculated monthly using the Modified Dietz method. Portfolios are revalued for cash flows greater than 10%. Composite returns are calculated monthly by weighting the aggregate SMA/Wrap sponsor returns using beginning of period market values. Periodic time weighted returns are geometrically linked. Returns are not calculated net of non-reclaimable withholding taxes due to immaterial dollar amounts.
5. "Pure" gross of fees returns do not reflect the deduction of any fees including trading costs. The net of fee return reflects the actual SMA fee of the individual portfolios in each platform except for one platform where the maximum fee is deducted from the gross return. The SMA fee includes all charges for trading costs, portfolio management, custody and other administrative fees. The actual fee may vary by size and type of portfolio.
6. The annual composite dispersion presented is measured by an asset-weighted standard deviation calculation method of all portfolios in the composite for the entire year. The dispersion is not meaningful because less than six portfolios are in the composite. The three year annualized standard deviation measures the variability of the composite and benchmark returns over the preceding 36 month period. It is not required to be presented for annual periods prior to 2011 or when a full three years of composite performance is not yet available.
7. The performance presented represents past performance and is no guarantee of future results. Stock market conditions vary from year to year and can result in a decline in market value due to material market or economic conditions.
